Dear MWIA Colleagues:

The Centennial Congress is quickly approaching with the dates being July 25-28, 2019 at the Brooklyn Bridge Marriott in New York City. I do hope to see many of you there as we celebrate our advocacy for women in medicine and for women's health for the last 100 years and look forward to our future work. Registration and other information can be found at www.amwa-doc.org/mwia100.

It has long been the custom for members coming to MWIA's international congress to bring some small gifts typical of their country for the MWIA sale. The items need not be expensive and in actual fact, less expensive items sell better. The proceeds will go to MWIA to help cover the costs of MWIA projects, such as the Centennial Publication, "100 Years in 100 Pages," and the posters created to represent each decade of MWIA's existence.

As space needs to be made available at the congress for the sale, it would be most appreciated if you could let me know what you are bringing and approximately how much space the objects would take up. If you could let me know by April 30, 2019, that would be most helpful. Your responses should be sent to pattariya_j@hotmail.com with the subject line MWIA Sale.

MWIA has developed a Centennial logo. Although it is not expected that your gifts will have this logo, I have attached it on the following page in case you do want to use it. Our hosts, the American Medical Women's Association will be selling limited merchandise branded with the logo.

Thank you for your ongoing support of MWIA and I look forward to seeing you next July in New York City.

Sincerely,

Dr. Pattariya Jarutat
Chair Centennial Bazaar Committee
